Description

The project aims to support local capacity building, there are not enough experts and social workers in the area, and volunteer activities in collaboration with the expert will lead to local experts training. Detailed description of volunteer activities: The first two months of adaptation to the environment. For the next two months the volunteer will work more independently and will also participate in the individual logistics activities of the project. Volunteers, according to their classification, participate either in the daily operation of the clinic and the center and in the implementation of the social program, where they participate in the tasks of supervising patients and clients coming to treatment, informal education (basic habits, patients / clients in the program, participate in project management, planning, implementation of partial tasks set for the period of their stay. Another group of volunteers prepares so-called. health talks, discussions, sports events and creative meetings (each day of the week targeting a different group of recipients: children, adolescents, pregnant women, fathers, elderly and people with chronic diseases, self-help groups of HIV-infected patients). Volunteers participate in creating PR materials, artwork created by local community program clients and other peer groups. They also participate in the so-called. outreaches (trips to hard-to-reach areas on a monthly basis), as well as schools where orphans and children sponsored from a distance adoption program are located. Volunteers also participate in the collection and sorting of research data and training programs (eg English, computer literacy, etc. for program clients and local staff). The volunteer will have the opportunity to meet with representatives of other NGOs in Uganda focused on social and health activities to exchange experiences from each activity. The volunteer will participate in education and consultation for local social workers and logists through the transfer of knowledge and skills. Its activities will contribute to establishing long-term partnerships between organizations and communities and building institutional relations between Slovak entities. Activities will strengthen solidarity and provide innovative responses to emerging social challenges. The
