Description

This project wants to contribute to decrease of female unemployment in poor Marsabit region. The applying organisation will accomplish this goal by opening new courses of practical skills - tailoring course and hairdressing and beauty course. Desired impact is decrease of female unemployment in the region and empowerment of women. The intervention will be realized in already existing Don Bosco Technical Institute Marsabit in county capital Marsabit. The institute currently offers technical education to aim group of men - the project will expand occupation of the institute by opening new courses for women. In order to enable easier integration of women in labour market, the project will organise meetings with potential employers, training on entrepreneurial skills as well as start-up kits. The second part of the project is focused on increasing quality of education process at the institute. It will be reached through pedagogues' capacity building. Certificated course on teaching technical classes will increase quality of teaching, course on mediation skills will contribute to bringing youth from different ethnic groups together in order to ensure peaceful coexistence of Marsabit inhabitants. This project was prepared based on the visit to Marsabit town.
